

Ropes Course Facilitator Hulbert Outdoor Center

The mission of the Aloha Foundation is to inspire people of all ages to learn, explore, grow, and become their best selves.

The Hulbert Outdoor Center, located in Fairlee, Vermont, provides experiential education programs to people of all ages. Current programs include day and overnight options for school groups focused on teamwork, leadership, and environmental education, school vacation camps, afterschool programs, family camps, skills certifications, and community service programs.

Position Summary

The Ropes Course Facilitator position operates during the summer season and will support the Ropes Courses of the Aloha Foundation managed by the Hulbert Outdoor Center. During the summer season, on-campus housing and food stipends are provided to staff members.

Key Responsibilities

- Facilitation of Ropes Courses for Aloha Foundation summer programming.
- Working with campers across wide age groups.
- Assist in the care of all ropes course equipment being sure to report all equipment issues to the Ropes Course Director.
- Embrace challenge by choice and assist participants in their challenges.
- Teach through experience.

Requirements - Knowledge, Qualifications, Skills, Abilities

- Strong commitment to educate children and communities.
- Energetic, and dedicated to all aspects of the work to create a strong community.
- Experience working with children preferred.
- Wilderness First Aid training available.
- Demonstrated experience teaching children, preferably in a residential camp environment.
- Able to attend mandatory training.

Hulbert Outdoor Center
Ropes Course Facilitator
March 8, 2023
Page 2 of 2

- Ability and desire to work positively and productively during long hours with children of diverse ages and abilities, outdoors in varied conditions.
- Willingness to take on varied tasks that support the program.
- Willingness to be flexible and to adapt your energy and work to meet the needs of the program.
- Comfortable with heights, and willingness to learn new skills.

About the Aloha Foundation

The Aloha Foundation is a Vermont-based non-profit organization that provides summer camps, family camps and education programs emphasizing simplicity, the outdoors and living in community. Our programs serve a range of campers and participants from children to older adults, individuals, groups, and families.

To request an application, please email humanresources@alohafoundation.org